Everything you need to know for before and after your Free First Lesson with S4S Coaching!

how does the free first lesson work?

Why does S4S Coaching have a Free First Lesson?

We offer a free tutoring session for your child to allow both you and your child to understand where they are with their studies. We help to assess their current progress and identify ways they can improve. This is all for free, with no obligation to join, because we are genuine in our efforts to benefit all students.

Who should come to the first lesson?

You and your child should both be present, and arrive 10 minutes before your lesson starts.

What should my child bring to the first lesson?

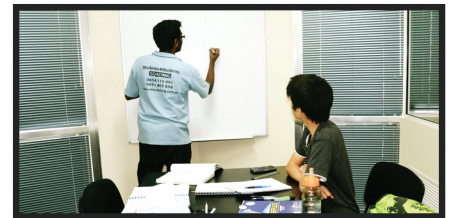

The first lesson is structured into 3 sections:

- 1) Firstly, we begin to gain an understanding of your child's performance by looking at some of their past and recent results. You and your child will be asked some questions so that the tutor is able to get an initial understanding of your child's attitude towards school.
- 2) The tutoring lesson will then start and you are free to leave and then come back 10 minutes before the end of the session. During this time, the tutor will assess your child in terms of their current capabilities to further understand your child's strengths and weaknesses in their chosen subjects.
- 3) When you return, the next step is for the tutor to provide constructive feedback to you and your child on their key areas for improvement.

What is the process after the first lesson?

After the first lesson, you and your child are given time at home to think about your experience with S4S Coaching and decide if you would like to enroll for tutoring. There's no obligation to join, but we are confident that after the first lesson, you and your child will see the benefit that coaching will have on your child's school performance. The centre admin will then call you within the next 3 working days after the lesson to follow up, and to enroll if you wish to sign up with S4S.
